Review

"This fascinating study shows how the kin- and faith-based distinctions and exclusions of citizenship in Arab countries reflect a unique historical and cultural trajectory. Parolin's is an illuminating examination of the relationship among states, societies and individuals." -- Mary Ann Tetreault, Una Chapman Cox Distinguished Professor of International Affairs, Trinity University, San Antonio, Texas "Through the lens of citizenship, this book guides the reader through the different landscapes of constitutional development along the common cultural and legal Arab horizon. A must for anyone seeking better insight into the Arab world." -- Giorgio Lombardi, Professor of Comparative Constitutional Law, University of Turin
